ADMINISTRATION

Kenneth Sheetz — Superintendent

William Ball — Assistant Principal

The administrators' stereotyped position as disciplinarians is just as distasteful and petty to them as it is to the students. Their work consists of many other important duties. There is coordinating of a master schedule, organizing of curriculum, dealing with financial problems and taking care of unpredictable day to day matters.

The administrators are in the middle. They are the most has-sled. They get complaints from and are complained about by teachers, students, parents, and the school committee. To tackle all this, the administrators need stamina, understanding, and diplomacy. Their job is not glamorous.

James Boynton — Principal

DRAMA CLUB

Drama is an exciting art. The emotion of tragedy, the witticisms of comedy, and the thrills of suspense make drama a great experience. The Georgetown High School Drama Club is in existence to provide the students an opportunity to enjoy all these facets of acting.

One part of drama is watching a performance. This year the club saw a tragedy, The Trojan Woman and a musical, Kiss Me Kate presented at local theaters. During the Christmas season, as a continuing tradition and an enlightening experience, the members caroled at local nursing homes; however the most important activity of the club was the production of their annual play. After participating in this event, members realized what producing a play entailed. There was work for everyone.

OLD CAR CLUB

The Old Car Club is for students interested in learning more about newer cars by working with old models. This year the club renovated a '39 Cadillac belonging to the club's advisor, Mr. Grinnell. The members aligned the brakes and gave the car a general tune-up while learning more about general mechanics. This novel club has had a very successful first year.

CHEFS CLUB

The faculty came to school earlier one morning this year to be served breakfast by a cooking club in the school. The people serving were boys - the Chefs Club. During their various meetings this year, the club members prepared many culinary treats such as stuffed peppers and mushrooms, beef dishes, stews, and delicious desserts such as Boston Cream and Lemon Meringue Pies. The members testified to their progress because they generally consumed what they created.

I-r, C. Bailey — Treasurer, L. Schultz — President, Miss Levesque — Advisor, L. Pasquale — Vice President, L. Metcalf — Secretary

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUB

The Foreign Language Club was formed to increase the participating members' knowledge of foreign languages, namely french and Spanish, by their usage at the various meetings.

This year the club investigated the possibility of traveling to Quebec City, Canada, but found the costs prohibitive. Tentative plans were also made for an International Fair Day and the possibility of implementing a student exchange program with Latin America.

Music is fascinating. The variations in rhythm, tempo, instrumentation, and mood are endless. A high level of cooperation, practice, and talent is needed to make a composition sound well when played by young musicians. Under the direction of George Norris our band has accomplished this goal.

In 1972 the band was very active. The members of the ensemble played at many of the football games, lending a solid background for the cheering. They performed in various concerts and represented the school in the town Memorial Day Parade. Their most ambitious event of the year was a concert tour in Montreal, Canada during the April vacation. To finance this project, the band sold foam cushions and candy bars in town

The band, through its many achievements, demonstrated that it was one of the best organized activities in this school.

CHOIR

The choir had a busy year. The select fourteen-member girl's group, under the direction of Mrs. Hayden, sang for the Massachusetts Superintendents-Secretaries Banquet, at the Evening with the Arts, and at Graduation. Altos Mary Pingree and Kim Wood were selected, after rigorous auditioning, for membership in the Northeast District Chorus. All in all it has been a year of accomplishment.

CHORUS

The main endeavor of the high school chorus this year was the presentation of selections from the musical score of "Fiddler on the Roof." Later, the group viewed the film version. Throughout the year, the chorus' talents were heard at assemblies, the Christmas Concert, and at other functions.

A.V. CLUB

In the past couple of years, audio-visual equipment has become an important part of the educational process. A movie instead of a lecture is more likely to capture the interest and imagination of a student. Much effort and coordination is needed to run an A.V. program. Under the direction of Mr. Bannister, the boys in the A.V. group make this program successful by delivering and collecting media center equipment, assisting teachers, and in running projectors, televisions, and recorders. They also tape important television productions and photograph important events. These devoted workers are a great asset to our school in utilizing A.V. equipment to its fullest capacity.

MATH LEAGUE

Although Georgetown is the smallest school in the North Shore Math League, it emerged thirty-second out of forty. Unlike other high school teams, the G.H.S. Math League is intended to be fun, yet challenging, without the use of special tutors to improve scores. All of the meets proved to be competitive and in some cases rewarding.

SKI CLUB

The GHS Ski Club began enthusiastically this year with a large number of alpinists joining the club. They waited for a bountiful snowstorm so that a ski trip could be organized. By the time the snow fell, at the beginning of March, everyone had lost interest and there were no group excursions to the slopes.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club is an international high school group, closely connected with the town Kiwanis. The average key club participates in civic and community activities. On one occasion the G.H.S. Key Club sponsored a senior citizens field trip to Cape Ann and also sponsored a guest speaker.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year many students talked of greater strides by the G.H.S. Student Council in the direction of student freedom. Smoking on school grounds and open campus were two of the major issues, however, these questions were never resolved.

Our student representatives provided many services and activities. A rock concert by Free Fare from Florida was sponsored in the tall. A music program comparing and contrasting rock music to orchestral music on radio station WNBP was presented. They also sponsored a toys for tots program in conjunction with the Marine Corps. Other minor projects included a spring dance, attending student council conventions, bake sales, and a fire extinguisher sale. The proceeds from the money making projects went into a scholarship fund for a deserving senior member. The Student Council did not use its full potential as a representative group, yet remained as the only true voice of the students.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

This year the Junior Honor Society was quite active. To raise money they presented two movies and sold refreshments. Nine members were inducted during their annual program. In the ceremony, Mr. Boynton was made an honorary member. To conclude their year the group went to Hampton Beach where they picked up litter and trash in support of ecology.

HEADIN' FOR A WEDDIN'

Have you ever tried to be someone else? that's what the cast of the senior play did. They changed their looks and actions to entertain the people and to learn a little about themselves. Behind the scenes, being someone else was a hassle. For eight weeks, our actors had to practice daily, memorize lines, learn to accept criticism, and develop acting skills. The night of the play was nerve-wracking too. Not many people in the audience realized how annoying the thick makeup was, how hot the stage was, and how unnerving it was to have a chair and table break during the performance. The events during the preparation for the play formed a bond between all the seniors in it. "Headin' for a Weddin'" was a rewarding experience.

FIELD HOCKEY

At a field hockey game, spectators are minimal. The only cheering usually comes from teammates on the sidelines. What is the point of a game that doesn't draw large crowds? It is a part of education, socially, physically, and mentally.

Practices and games have meaning for the team. The girls know what it's like to be on the field waiting for the game to begin. They learn how to face both defeats and triumphs. The teammates enjoy themselves as they represent their school. That makes the sport well worth it.

When the softball season began, so did the spring showers. Our potentially good team didn't gaze into the sky to see if conditions were right; they checked to see if the diamond was under three feet of water. Because of the rain, most practices were held indoors, and the majority of games were played in a period of two weeks. With these obstacles, the season was mediocre at best.

Go! The race is on ... sprint ... run. No Royals in sight. The opposition is only a few feet away. Just a little faster . . . keep the pace. How is the rest of the team doing? Someone's on your heels . . . your sides ache . . . Summer Street Hill . . . Push . . . Past the school . . . Push. Ahead is the finish line. Sprint, Make the contest worthwhile . . . Over the line. ### FOOTBALL

Comradeship is the basis of football. Sticking with it for four years has its results: the Cape Ann League Championship. Our undefeated freshman team emerged as senior champs.

Football is maintaining the spirit, it isn't always easy. There are triple practice sessions in August; cold, wet games in November; shoveling the field after a pre-game storm. It takes getting it together. Football is the team awaiting the first kick-off, gaining yardage, blocking, tackling, and pitting muscle against muscle. Football is spectators. They always come to support the team, shouting 'til hoarse, cheering successful plays, and becoming wild at the scoring of a crucial touchdown. Football IS an exciting game at GHS.

Basketball is not a power game like football. It requires speed, agility, quick thinking, height, and endurance. It's a tense game. Herein lies the popularity of the sport. Our team this season had a good combination of these elements enabling them to emerge with a winning season.

With five sophomores on the starting team, the press predicted that Georgetown would be last in the league. Our baseball team was in contention for first place until a 2-1, 10 inning defeat with North Andover. This seemed to be the turning point in luck. As the season progressed with rain and further defeats, the team concluded their year with a 7-8 record.

Johnson, M. Bianco, D. Flanders, B. Phillips

This year's track team began the season with a close defeat by Rockport. The team, composed mainly of seniors and sophomores; and as a first for GHS, of both girls and boys, fared well against competition from larger schools. The last meet, a close victory over Rockport, showed an overall improvement in the team.
